

Case No. 3,153.

COOK v. BEALL.

[2 Cranch, C. C. 264.]<sup>1</sup>

Circuit Court, District of Columbia.

Oct. Term, 1821.

REINSTATEMENT OF CAUSE.

The court Will, on affidavit reinstate a cause non pressed on a rule for security for costs laid on the plaintiff, who had no attorney in court, his attorney having died, and no rule served on the plaintiff to employ new counsel.

The plaintiff's attorney died. The defendant: laid a rule on the plaintiff to give security for costs, and non pressed him upon that rule, without having served a rule on the plaintiff to employ new counsel.

THE COURT, upon affidavit reinstated the cause.
