

Case No. 13,094.

SMITH v. POTTS.

{1 Cranch, C. C. 123.}¹

Circuit Court, District of Columbia. June, 1803.

CONTINUANCE—INABILITY TO FIND WITNESS.

The court will not continue a cause because the plaintiff cannot find out the place of residence of his witness.

Continuance on the ground that the plaintiff could not find out the residence of his witness—refused.

¹ [Reported by Hon. William Cranch, Chief Judge.]

This volume of American Law was transcribed for use on the Internet

through a contribution from Google. 