

To my Duly Elected Officials,

It is important and a constitutional right for the citizens of our great nation to have access to the laws in which we are bound to follow. If the law is not provided to us, how is one expected to abide by such law. It is clear that the system has been corrupted as many governmental systems have, and has become and revenue stream for committee members and leaders of standards members. It is time that our country stopped catering the rich and stopped using the government as a tool for self-interest and financial gain. How can a country and its citizen function and flourish in a system where the elected officials use their vested powers to influence laws designed purely for self interest rather than the interest of the people in which they were elected to serve. It is time to put an end to this Kleptocracy and return it to the Democracy it was intended to be.

-Your Humble Citizen
