Comment

This is a smart move by PHMSA because it protects the health of all citizens. Certain chemicals can be very dangerous when exposed and can ultimately lead to health problems. For instance, if PHMSA did not update Regulations companies would become more liable and in higher risk of somebody filing a lawsuit. The government wants all transportation to be safe. Furthermore, they do not want to lose clientele because transportation is too unsanitary. That would give a negative outlook on public transportation. Citizens do not want to use public transportation if there is a possibility that they can become affected from the hazardous materials. This amendment could and should become effective immediately.
