

Dale Harris

This is a Comment on the Coast Guard (USCG) Rule: Commercial Diving Operations

For related information, Open Docket Folder

Comment Period Closed
Jun 26 1998, at 11:59 PM ET

Comment

DIVER HELMET CERTIFICATIONS ARE USELESS. Every dive, every time a piece of equipment is used. the condition of the helmet is subject to being altered unsafe. So why have the inspection, additional costs, additional pain in the --- to have it done. No one would willingly put a hat on and go over the side knowing it might fail. For hundreds of years a visual inspection and inspection of the equipment is conducted during dress in. Forget about an annual helmet inspection. That's just adding another layer of unnecessary cost. We are not three year olds here.

ID: USCG-1998-3786-0095
Tracking Number: 80820580

Document Information

Date Posted:
Jan 17, 2009

RIN:
1625-AA21

Show More Details

Submitter Information

Submitter Name:
Dale Harris

Country:
United States

State or Province:
FL

Organization Name:
WELD TECH., LLC