To: Past participants, ANSI Legal Issues Forum

Dear colleagues,

As past participants in the American National Standards Institute's annual Legal Issues Forum, I am pleased to share more information about an upcoming ANSI workshop on Arbitration of RAND Disputes on Tuesday, January 21, 2014, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

The event will be hosted by WilmerHale at 1875 Pennsylvania Avenue NW in Washington, DC. In addition to WilmerHale, the workshop is sponsored by American University and the American Society of International Law.

The free workshop will build upon ANSI's October 1, 2013, Legal Issues Forum, which was also focused on arbitration as a potential resolution mechanism for RAND disputes. The workshop will be structured as an interactive panel session, to be moderated by Professor Jorge Contreras of American University.
