probably easier to have the Georgia chapter do that since you're all local and have a direct interest, but sure, I'd love for SAA to do that.

Yes, I think that would be a great plan for our podcast distribution. I'll bring that up with the team.

I've asked the president of SGA, Sarah Quigley, if SGA would be open to submitting an amicus brief and will let you know when I hear back from her. Would you be interested in seeing if SAA could submit one, as well? I could ask the Committee on Public Policy, the group that works on efforts like that.

Here's something you might consider do the full-fledged show for a while, e.g., a week. But, then, cut out the music and just save the talk stuff as your permalink. Maybe throw in a couple public domain zingers or other sound to stitch the pieces together (lots of public domain or royalty free audio clips that you could use).

Would the society of Ga archivists have any interest in submitting an amicus brief in our case when it gets to that point? We could team you up with a lawyer who'd do the writing for them.

Thanks so much, Carl--this list is great! We will share these as the week goes on.

The entire show (music included) will be available at this URL for as long as we continue to pay for Libsyn (which should be a good long while): http://traffic.libsyn.com/lostinthestacks/LITS_Episode_272.mp3 The file can't be uploaded the Internet Archive, but we are comfortable with that link being shared online, even though the file contains music.

Thank you for bringing up the rights and permalink questions. You inspired us to have a good conversation about clarifying the rights situation surrounding our shows and our plans for preservation. We need to practice what we preach.

Thanks again for taking the time to talk with us. If you ever want to get the word out about anything related to the situation in Georgia, I'm always happy to help share information with the Society of GA Archivists and the Society of American Archivists.

Wendy
