

From: Carl Malamud carl@media.org
Subject: Re: Brief interview this week about the mission of Public.Resource.Org, for podcast created by librarians and archivists?
Date: September 26, 2015 at 8:54 AM
To: Hagenmaier, Wendy L wendy.hagenmaier@library.gatech.edu

---

Hi Wendy -

Knowing your show might go away at some point, I went ahead and had a transcript made (we have an obligation to keep all statements I make about the litigation in case we need to show that to the other side).

I'm attaching a word file of the transcript with my edits. Hopefully, I got the names right. :)

Two things:

1. You are of course welcome to use this for any purpose you'd like. It's your show.
2. I was going to post an HTML version of this in my Georgia directory if you have no objections. Do you mind?

Thanks again for having me on!

Carl

On Sep 20, 2015, at 6:00 PM, Hagenmaier, Wendy L <wendy.hagenmaier@library.gatech.edu> wrote:

Thanks so much for your suggestions about options for archiving the show, Carl. Our team is going to have a meeting about this, and I will share all of your ideas with them. I agree that it's important for us to make the show available for the long term.

The show team was thrilled to see the BoingBoing piece on Saturday--thanks so much for the shout out.

I've asked my contact within SAA's Committee on Advocacy and Public Policy about whether SAA might be willing to contribute a brief and will let you know what I hear back.

I could also reach out to (or put you in touch with) my contacts in the Georgia Library Association, Atlanta ARMA, Georgia Special Libraries Association, and Atlanta Law Libraries Association, if it would be helpful to have additional local voices contribute.

Thanks so much!
Wendy

lost.in.the.stacks.211230-
1.doc

