

From: Carl Malamud carl@media.org
Subject: Re: Ga. State Code Article?
Date: September 3, 2015 at 11:29 AM
To: Alex Koma alex.koma@statescoop.com

I'm West Coast. Would tomorrow 9am PT work for you?

On Sep 3, 2015, at 11:26 AM, Alex Koma <alex.koma@statescoop.com> wrote:

Hi Carl

Thanks for all this. I was actually just reading that ABA Journal article as I try to brush up on the subject.

I'd love to chat in detail about this sometime. When might be a good time for you to talk?

-
Alex Koma
Staff Reporter
StateScoop
571-274-4979

Scoop News Group || scoopnewsgroup.com
FedScoop || fedscoop.com
StateScoop || statescoop.com
EdScoop || Coming Soon!

On Sep 3, 2015, at 2:22 PM, Carl Malamud <carl@media.org> wrote:

Hi -

Have you read any of the background information? In particular, I testified before Congress on the general subject:

<https://public.resource.org/edicts/>

There was a recent cover article in the ABA Journal on the subject as well:

http://www.abajournal.com/magazine/article/who_owns_the_law_technology_reignites_the_war_over_just_how_public_document/

And, you can see the letters exchanged with the State of Georgia here:

<https://law.resource.org/pub/us/code/ga/>

You can see more about our overall efforts here:

<https://law.resource.org/>

I'd be happy to talk if you have any questions.

Best,

Carl

On Sep 3, 2015, at 11:18 AM, Alex Koma <alex.koma@statescoop.com> wrote:

Hi Mr. Malamud

I'm a reporter with StateScoop, a website covering how state and local governments use technology, and since we recently heard about the state of Georgia's lawsuit over your website's publication of the state's annotated code, I was hoping you could help me out.

Specifically, we'd love to learn more about what your website does, and get your side of the story on the whole debate for a larger piece we're writing on how governments publish their laws online. Maybe you'd have some debate for a larger piece we're writing on how governments publish their laws online. Maybe you'd have some time to talk about all this in a quick phone interview sometime in the next few days?

Just let me know if we can set something up sometime soon.

Thanks, and I look forward to hearing from you.

-

Alex Koma
Staff Reporter
StateScoop
571-274-4979

Scoop News Group || scoopnewsgroup.com
FedScoop || fedscoop.com
StateScoop || statescoop.com
EdScoop || Coming Soon!