I'm hoping to get there at some point, and it appears that is increasingly likely. :)

I used to go to Atlanta a lot when my mother did a postdoc at Emory, but that was 20 years ago. I'll let you know if a trip gets scheduled.

Thank Carl, that's very kind of of you. I'd love to follow the case... perhaps we'll meet in ATL?

Markup with track changes attached.

1. typo: "cites" instead of "sites"
2. I think "round table" in the Magna Carta quote is not correct.
3. My editorial spin: I disagree with the characterization that annotations are in fact copyright. We don't know yet.
4. My editorial spin: I disagree that Georgia makes the unannotated code available for free. That is technically correct, but it is only available for free with stringent terms of use. In particular, you may *not* copy that code and share it with other people.
