let me know if you want more background on stuff I've done in the past to convince your editors ... there have been some nice pieces in the ny times over the last 20 years or so.

The Georgia fight is part of something significantly bigger, including 2 district court cases in DC for posting documents such as electrical and building codes and OSHA-mandated safety docs. There is also a district court case in Germany for posting the EU-mandated baby pacifier safety standards.

These are not quixotic fights we just won a big victory over the IRS for release of nonprofit tax returns and have had similar results in the past with SEC, Patent Office, court documents, the Federal Register, and quite a few others.
