Hi Brad -

Yes, that is our response to your notification. You'll note we're not a service provider.

Best regards,

Carl

Sure. Oh, and thanks for the letter. Very well researched and put together. Did you intend that to be a formal counternotification under 17 USC 512(g)(3)?

My client is reviewing, and so it may have mooted the need for a call since your position is pretty clear, but I will ping you and/or David in the a.m. if a call is still in order.

Thanks, Carl.

Brad

I'm in meetings for the rest of the day, but I'm in tomorrow morning if you'd like to talk still. David Halperin is around as well.

Best regards,

Carl

Thank you, Carl. I appreciate that. I will get off my high horse!

I will watch for your counternotification in a bit, then. I assume you are counternotifying as to all the content, the code and the analysis?

To be clear, our position is that you can use the code. I offered a license--I expect you will say one is not needed. OK, let's talk about how to get you the code files and what to do about the analysis.

Thanks,
Brad

Not making you look like rubes. You're the potato state. Don't take offense because it wasn't meant to give offense.

I'm sending you our response in a few minutes.

Carl,

"Revenge of the potato people"?

You are not obligated to keep it a secret, no. But using social media to make us look like rubes when the statute provides a very well defined response mechanism is not helpful to the discussion, no.

When may we speak? I think a call would be helpful here.

Thanks,
Brad

Hey Brad. Good to hear from you.

[Annemarie to bcc. She doesn't represent us, merely made the intro. No need to overload her mailbox.]

Not sure how that isn't helpful. You sent us a DMCA takedown notice. That's a pretty big deal ... all I did was tweet that we received the letter. Was I supposed to keep it a secret?

Carl,

This Tweet is not helpful.

What gives?

Best,

Brad -

Great to hear from you. I'm totally slammed in the morning, let me look at this tomorrow and reach out to you then after I've had a chance to look at this.

Yes, we get a lot of scholars looking at this stuff and talking but I imagine you get the same! We have a pretty standard response letter ... somebody sends a DMCA, we have the tech and legal teams take a look at it and generate the standard response. That's in the works, let me get back to you tomorrow or Tuesday.

Looking forward as well!

Best,

Carl
